

Hunter Hotline

Spring 2014

Greeting Everyone,

Spring has sprung in the Klamath Basin! The sun is out, the birds are here, and I even see some green on the ground. We are in the midst of our spring migration and there are a ton of birds here. If you have a chance now is the time to come to the Refuge and take a look, it is spectacular!!

Public hunt meeting: April 5th 10:00 a.m. at the Refuge Education Center. We will be discussing expected water conditions and upcoming changes for the hunt program. We will also be going over the new on-line pass sales system we are working on and any other issues you wish to discuss. I should have a rough agenda together and posted on-line by March 28th. Please let me know if you wish to add anything I am always open to ideas and comments. This meeting is open to everyone; coffee and snacks will be available as always.

If you have questions, ideas or comments about the hunt program please contact me at the Refuge at 530-667-2231 or send me an email at stacy_freitas@fws.gov
